HERA Terminal Air Conditioner Units Repaired

The Virgin Islands Port Authority is pleased to announce that the air conditioner units at the Henry E. Rohlsen Airport Terminal on St. Croix have been repaired. The units failed yesterday due to an electrical short that resulted in a software malfunction with the air conditioning system. The system has begun cooling the air, and the terminal will be comfortably air-conditioned within the next few hours. VIPA thanks the public for its patience while this issue was resolved.

The Virgin Islands Port Authority (VIPA) is an autonomous, self-sustaining government agency established in 1969 as the owner and manager of the United States Virgin Island's airports and seaports. VIPA owns and manages 14 seaports, two airports and surrounding properties. It is a critical arm of the USVI's economy that facilitates travel and commerce and fosters tourism and economic growth via its port activities. VIPA's mandate is to develop and maintain the ports of the USVI to accommodate the current and future demands of our users, and to provide safe port facilities.
